From: Jun Yan
Date: September 26, 2026
Subject: Review of computing resources

This example demonstrates the memo format for the UConn Department of Statistics. The masthead contains the logo and sender information; the memo heading identifies the recipient, sender, date, and subject.

Please review the department's computing needs before our next meeting. In particular, consider the following questions:

- Which software and computing resources are needed for teaching?
- Are additional resources needed to support graduate student research?
- What documentation would help new users get started?

Please bring your recommendations to the meeting so we can agree on priorities and next steps.
